

From Gods Front Porch

Helping restore spirits ravaged by infirmity and happenstance. Opting to reinforce Gods divine grace and benevolent mercy. Serving daily a generous portion of love and compassion. Providing comfort seasoned with both concern and sympathy. Invoking the blessings of God to lift descending spirits. Choosing to adhere to the positive in spite of adversity. Effectuating Godly feelings of continual love and eternal peace.

Written by: William H. Nelson

The creativity of a southern hospice nurse spirited these writings inside From Gods Front Porch. The physical, emotional, and spiritual needs voiced by the hospice patients and families that she cared for inspired her to use poetry and photography to capture their end-of-life experiences. Even though dying is usually not the most popular topic for a conversation piece, there is an increasing awareness in our society today for hospice to be entertained as a doable philosophy of care. Hospice is committed to affirm the cycle of life and enhance ones quality of living with dignity and compassion. These writings hopefully offer hope and encouragement not just for those transitioning in hospice, but also for those affected by their everyday life experiences. The multi-diverse feelings in both situations are portrayed through pictures and heartfelt words speaking from the heart and embracing the spirit. Yall pull up a rocker and set a spell on Gods Front Porch! Take time to reflect, laugh, or even cry as each page or photograph possibly unlocks treasured memories you yourself might have experienced! Enjoy the illustrations from Gods beauty that is all around us. Be inspired by His words from the heart for the heart to help understand just a little bit about heaven as His people have faced New Life! Yall come back.ya hear?
